

Irish History Online Bibliography

NEWS FROM Royal Historical Society Bibliography, Irish History Online AND London's Past Online

2 July 2008

New records

This update includes just over 4800 new records; just over 1700 of these cover publications of 2007-8.

1127 of the new records relate to Irish history. These include around half of the Writings on Irish History for 2005, provided by Irish History Online (www.irishhistoryonline.ie); the remainder of the records from the 2005 Writings will be included in our next update. The number of records in the database relating to Irish history now totals 65,500; all these records are accessible using the Irish material only option on the RHS search menu, (www.rhs.ac.uk/bibl/dataset.asp) or through the Irish History Online search menu. (www.rhs.ac.uk/bibl/ireland.asp)

Although the London's Past Online project is no longer itself creating new records, new material on London history continues to be made available by the Royal Historical Society and (where titles concern the Irish in London) by Irish History Online. 185 of the new records in this update relate to London and are available using the London material only option on the RHS search menu, or through the London's Past Online search menu. (www.rhs.ac.uk/bibl/london.asp)

The complete database, including titles from Irish History Online and London's Past Online, now contains nearly 446,000 records.

You can browse all the latest additions, including those from Irish History Online and London's Past Online, by broad period/country categories (based on the sections previously used for the printed RHS Annual Bibliography) by going to our browse page.
