

Joseph Browne Spring School of Traditional Music

Bursaries

The Joseph Browne Spring School of Traditional Music is offering a number of bursaries to enable young musicians from counties Galway and Clare, as well as participants in the first Joseph Browne Spring of Traditional music, to attend other traditional music schools. Two bursaries to attend the Meitheal Residential Summer School in July 2007 (<http://www.tradweek.com/>) and three bursaries to attend the 2008 Joseph Browne Spring School of Traditional Music in February 2008 are on offer. The following conditions apply:

Meitheal Residential Summer School 2007 (2 Bursaries)

1. Applicants are invited to submit a written presentation entitled 'Me and My Music'. The presentation should include an outline of the applicant's musical journey: e.g. my past musical experiences, musical influences, important people in my musical life, what music means to me now and where I see my music taking me in the future. Applicants may include musical achievements to date and any other relevant information.
2. The presentation may contain up to 1200 words. It may be typed or handwritten and may include photos or other items of interest.
3. Applicants for the Meitheal bursary must submit a recording of their own performance on tape or CD.
4. Applicants must be aged 13 or over.

Joseph Browne Spring School of Traditional Music (3 Bursaries)

1. Three Bursaries are available to attend the 2008 Joseph Browne Spring School of Traditional Music (Feb 14th – 16th). Applicants are invited to submit a presentation entitled 'Me and My Music' as above.
